Appendix 3 Tour Arrangement

Tour to Huangshan Mountain (3-day, 21-23, August)

Huangshan Mountain in the south of Anhui Province, about 350 km far away from Shanghai is one of ten best-known scenic spots in China. It is characterized by the four wonders, namely, odd-shaped pines, grotesque rock formation, seas of clouds and crystal-clear hot springs. Mount Huangshan is celebrated for having all the features of mountain scenery. Known as the No. 1 Mountain Under heaven, it features numerous imposing peaks (77 exceed an altitude of 1,000m), forests of stone pillars and evergreen sturdy pines; other features include rotesquely-shaped rocks (many of which are individually named, such as "pig-headed monk eating water melon"), waterfalls, pools and hot springs. Because of its mists and clouds, natural scenery in the area changes beyond prediction. Xu Xiake, a noted Chinese geologist and traveler in Ming Dynasty, praised Huangshan Mountain as the best of all mountains. Mount Huangshan was listed as one of the World Natural and Cultural Heritages in 1990.
